Corn derived benefit at the opening from the temporary streagth of wheat, and later participated in that grain's weakness, exhibiting an netive condition. In the absence of buying and selling orders, the trade talked over the chaims of private crop caperts, that the Government had underestimated the yield, participated in the South. Whilst disposed to agree in the correctness of the claims, the majority of the traders were not inclined to sell nuch corn, evidently presuming that prices had already suffered almost as much loss as they could stand. May corn opened at 20 gestive, closing at 25 gestive, unchanged from yesterday. Cash only were found in oats. No Bond Issue Contemplated.

WaSHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.—The notual gold reserve this atternoon was less than $80,50,00. The official figures given out at 2 o'clock put the reserve at $91,82,325; but from this must be taken $1,20,000 withdrawn yesterday and $1,134,000 taken out to-day, which has not yet been deducted by the Treasury bookkeepers. This is the lowest notch reached by the treasury since last March.

Secretary Carllise did not come to the Treasury Department to-day, but spent the time at his residence working on his annual report. He refused to be seen in regard to the bond story coming from New York to the effect that he was preparing another issue. Secretary Hamilin said he knew nothing about it and another his official, who declined to be quoted as making the statement officially, said it was absolutely not true. Bonds were not being prepared, and the Treasury has not, as he says even considered the possible accessity of a further issue.

Rev. T. M. Carson, returned to-day from New York, where he went in the interest of the University of Virginia. While there he called on Mr. Rouss, whom he has known since boyhood, and it was mainly through his instrumentality that the $25,000 was contributed.

ELBA, VA., Nov. 16. Special.—Fayette Hamlett, a white man living three miles with Martha A, Tankersly, a colored wowith Martha A. Tankersly, a colored wo-man, and were married yesterday. It has caused quite a sensation here. They went to Chatham and tried to procure a li-cense, and the clerk of the County Court refused to comply with their request, and they kept on to Pelham, and were mar-ried last night, and arived here this moroling. morning.

He has been married once, and comes from a respectable family. He has five living children. The oldest, a girl is a grown young lady. His present wife is a bright mulatte and is twenty-four years of ago. The authorities will take the proper course of law in regard to the matter.

HIS CASE MUST BE TRIED.

said, whatever his calling, needed education. "We need," he said, "plainer living and higher thinking, instead of higher living and plainer tainking. We are fighting the Chinese about binding their children's feet, while we are binding our children's heeds.

As an example of the need of education he cited the case of a young lady, who came down to the parlor to receive a visitor saying: "I didn't wait to dress, because I didn't want to keep you waiting, so I just come down in my nom de plaine.

The devil must be tought with the higher and better things. Education is the best way to fight dancing and the theatres. Give your boys and girls a good education, and set them down in a well-stocked library and they have no desire to go carcusing over the ball-room floor. If we will open the blind eyes of our children and unstop their deaf ears, all the beauties of righteousness will be revealed to them.

MONEY VALUED TOO HIGHLY.

State. Our schools over the country are bidding against each other and cutting each other's throats. It has become a positive scandal. To stop this we must adopt some system. We must thin them out to a stand. I am glad you have accomplished such wonderful things in Virginia. Stand by your schools. The Church is no stronger than its institutions.

Remarks on the subject were also made.

Virginia. Stand by your schools. The church is no stronger than its institutions.

Remarks on the subject were also made by Revs. DeShazo and Peatross, strongly argue that the cause of education be promoted. Mr. Peatross said that there was every indication that the people and ministers were awakening to the importance of education. There is, he said, a vast deal of intellectual preaching in the land, but that will not take the place of intellectual training and intellectual power. These schools ought to be endowed, they ought to have money—they can't get along without it. The best endowment is liberal patronage. There are 86.711 aethodists in this Virginia conference and it seems that they ought to furnish patronage for three schools. Last year there were 132 students at Randolph-Macon, 131 at Front Royal, and 117 at Redford City. Why are there not more scholars? Are our people educating their children at schools of other denominations?

The report of the Board of Education was unantmously adopted.

MORE LOYALTY NECESSARY.

We want more loyalty, both as regards schools and churches.

Schools can't live without being canvassed for, and canvassed for most vigorously, and their advantges put before for a Southern Methodist resort similar to Ocean Grove, N. J., where our people may enjoy all the privileges of a yearly camp-meeting; and

Whereas, we believe that the scotter steps are taken to this end, the greater will be the advantage to our Church; and

Whereas, there are no financial obligations whatever to be assumed by the conference;

Therefore, we carnestly request that a committee be appointed to look into this matter and recommend a place and name for such resort, and report to the conference at the earliest possible date.

The question then came up on the adoption of the report of the Sunday-school Board, with the subjoined resolutions, and this precipitated a discussion which created the most intense interest. The vote was first laken on the following resolutions:

Resolved, First, That we heartly recommend all our Sunday-school periodicals as eminently worthy of a place in all our Sunday-school literature as our schools need.

Third, That Children's-Duy be observed in all our charges either in the months of first two resolutions were adopted out discussion, but objection was to the last and with the consent of hairman, it was stricken out.

PUBLISHING HOUSE DEFENDED.

This amendment brought Rev. Dr. A. G. Brown to his feet, and he made quite a lengthy address. He said that these statements about the large profits of the Nashville house were made periodically, but that there were never any facts to sustain such statements. He did not approve himself, he said, of the advertisement of sensational books, but it could not well be remedied, as they were working through agents, and could not very well control such matters. If conference wanted to stop these advertisements, he said, the proper person to see about it was Dr. Paul Whitehead, who was a member of the Book Committee. He could go down to Nashville and speak against it. Dr. Whitehead was tover afraid to lift his voice against what he knew to be evil. Dr. Brown also said that money was needed to run a publishing house, and that there must be a surplus to provide for bad debts. He claimed that there was no over-charge for any books sold. Dr. Peterson claimed, he said, that the profits were $0.00. That only represented two and a half ceats from each person dealing there. Several other members took a hand at this point, and a substitute offered to Dr. Judkins amendment still further complicated matters. The hour of adjournment having arrived, Dr. A. C. Bledsoe moved to extend the time in order to finish the question.

DR. SMITH CUTS THE KNOT.

DR. SMITH CUTS THE KNOT. It looked as though the whole after-noon would be consumed in the discus-sion, when Dr. A. Coke Smith out the Gordian knot with four motions. The dordan knot with four horions. The various resolutions and amendments were laid on the table, and the whole section stricken out.

Another section of the Sunday-School Board's report, which was also involved in the discussion, was the following paragraph:

and introduced Rev. E. H. Rawlings, of Centenary church, Norfolk.

REV. E. H. RAWLINGS ADDRESS.

Let. Rawlings made an enthusiastic activess, and roused much feeling in the audience. He said that his single idea in speaking was to advocate organization. The State organization seemed to be now a certainty, and it was upon this subject that he proposed mainly to speak. Organization is necessary in everything, he said, and I helieve that the Epworth League is the best thing that can be found. The Epworth League is the pairitating heart of the Metholist church, and it is our purpose to organize a successful league, but what we mean to organize is the that will become a never-lailing well-spring of energy to the Church. There is no sort of peraliventure about the success of a league. It will be wontteen mean the organize of the success of a league. It will be wontteen make it. HOW TO ACHIEVE SUCCESS.

HOW TO ACHIEVE SUCCESS.

In order to have successful leagues in every Methodist church, only two thirzs are necessary—enthusiasm and method. Enthusiasm will express itself next spring in a great State Convention in Lynchburg. If you go there next spring there will be so many people there you won't know you are in old Virginia. Hell say that it is not Methodist. I deny that it is not Methodist. I from my heart I congratulate the leagues of this city and Manchester upon this magnificant occasion.

At the conclusion of Mr. Rawlings' splendid and earnest address the hynn. "Actory Through Grace," was sung. The tune was taken up by the whole immense gathering, and the effect was inspiring.

Dr. Steel said he proposed to speak of the league in three phases—its magnitude, meaning, method. There were now, he said, a quarter of a million apports he said, a quarter of a million and a quarter in the M. E. Church, South, and a million and a quarter in the M. E. Church, North and South.

There is vast enthusiasm in the meetings of the league. It has life in it; it means business; it is here for work. Its purpose is the religious development, through service, of our young people. The Sunday school is the drill-ground—the Epworth League is the baitle-field. There is no conflet between them.

God needs the young people, and they have come to the front. God is raising up here in America an army of young Christians. God wants these young people because they are strong. This Epworth League movement means the taking of the strength of the young man or young woman and consecrating it to God.

There are three departments of the local league, and they all mean work. They are the departments of Worship, Charity and Help, and Literary Work.

THEY MUST LEARN TO WORK.

THEY MUST LEARN TO WORK.

The young people need to feet that they can learn to do something. To have their dormant energies aroused and directed into proper channels. I am glad to know that old Virginia will have an Epworth Conference second to none, and I want to see her take her place among the foremost.

God bless you, my brethern, God give you grace for the work.

The exercises of the evening were closed by singing "Have Courage, My Roy, to Say No," and Rev. Dr. A. C. Eledsoe pronounced the benediction.
